kespearean Repertoire and ectacular roduction & [beatrical

By JULIA CHANDLER MANZ.

Now don't you see that it can't be done? There isn't a producer in captivity who can afford to offer a high-class entertainment at reduced prices.

When a theater announces a first-grade attraction and in the same breath shouts "popular prices" just put it down, that as sure as two and two are four, there is "a nigger in the woodpile," for the present cost of producing a worthwhile drama at the hands of capable players is such as to make the mainte-nance of the current scale of prices in the "legitimate" houses a necessity to the producer unless he is going to lose money.

If my opinion in this matter was confirmed before it was doubly fixed last week by the first presentation in this city of "The Story of the Rosary." Announcements preceeding Walter Howard's melodrama claimed a stupendous production of a meritorious piece at the hands of gifted players. From the same source as this claim for the play came the offer of seats at popular prices which instantly shut one up to the conclusion that something was wrong somewhere, nor did it take more than the first act of the melodrama at the Belasco last Monday evening to bring one to a solution of the problem, for viewed from every logical angle, "The Story of the Rosary" is a slapstick melodrama, written around a hackneyed theme, and introducing a group of impossible characters which are presented, in the main, with such persistent lack of color that even the popular prices asked of the public to see it are exorbitant. Yet Mr. Howard, who is responsible for both the play and its staging asserts that four companies are successfully presenting the piece in England, which is certainly no flattering commentary on British taste and intelligence.

The current dramatic year has been distinguished by a dearth of Shakespearean productions. William Faversham deserted the Bard of Avon at the end of his season's presentation of his expensive production of "Julius Caetar." Margaret Anglin's artistic offerings of classic drama last season were a mancial failure. Sothern and Marlowe upon whom we have formed the habit of depending for the highest artistry in the classic drama, being absent from the boards at present still further cuts down the list of Shakespearean offerings this year, so that the repertoire of his plays of Shakespeare, and the production of "Louis XI." which is the work of the French dramatist, Casimer Delavigue, which Robert B. Mantell will present at the Belasco Theater this week, will likely be our sole chance during the present season of enjoying Shakespearean drama.

The most elaborate and conspicuous the string of Arthur Voegtlin, who is the presiding genius of this, the world's largest playhouse, and in designing in the largest playhouse, and in designing in the largest playhouse, and in designing in the largest playhouse, and in designing it in the current of the National Theater.

The most elaborate and conspicuous the string of the National Theater.

The most elaborate and conspicuous the string of the National Theater.

The most elaborate and conspicuous the like and the string of the National Theater.

The most elaborate and conspicuous the list of Shakespearean of the National Theater.

The most elaborate and conspicuous the list of Shakespearean of the National Theater.

The most elaborate and conspicuous the list of Shakespearean of the National Theater the string of the National Theater Shakespearean drama.

The most elaborate and conspicuous of the Mantell revivals this season is the is said to have outdone himself in all the big Hippodrome spectacles, he has supervised.

The great ship Pinafore, which created a sensation when first seen floating in its basin of water which occupies the entire stage, will be seen at the National this week just as it was it the Hippodrome, or so it is promised. Crutus Booth and Charles Keen-more

King John is known as the "magna charter" monster of the twelfth century. He was superstitious, cruel, and soppressive—physically brave, but morally a coward—and yet with it all a man of great natural ability. He ruled in stormy times, when the first crack in the feudal system was only beginning to appear. Brute force ruled the world and John was brute force enthroned. In his book on Shakespeare, William Winter, dean of American dramatic critics, places Mr. Mantell's portrayal of King John as one of the foremost churacterizations of the American stage.

Another fascinating character of the Mantell repertoire (which will be seen Mantell repertoire (which will be seen jumbia standard, the Mesers, Metzerott Mantell repertoire (which will be seen but once during his week here) is his "Louis XI," that crafty old French monarch who set about destroying the feudal system of France and cementing the various duchies into a single grand the various duchies into a single grand the various duchies have of the celebrated. mpire. Louis is one of the celebrated figures of history and, while not as familiar to play-goers as some of the dramas offered in a classical repertoire, is peculiarly Mantellian in scope and said to be one of the tragedian's finest thor of the vaudeville sketch in which she appeared here the week before last. characterizations.

The slogan at the New National Theater this week would seem to be "a real ship in real water," for this is the big feature o f the revival of "Pinafore." which is the first of the New York Hippodrome productions to come here intact, for the reason that there has been no local stage big enough to accommodate them, until— in making the revival of the Gilbert and Sullivan opera—Arthur Voegtlin overcame many of the scenic difficulties production so that it might be present-

CALENDAR OF THE WEEK.

Belasco-Robert B. Mantell, in Shakespearean repertoire. National - N. Y. Hippodi eduction of "Pinafere." Columbin-Dark. Poll's-"A Woman's Way." Keith's-Vaudeville. Gnyety-"The Golden Crooks." Cosmos-Vaudeville.

Castno-Vaudeville.

than twenty-five years ago.

Madame Modjeska produced the military spectacle for a short time, subordinating, however, the role of King lad the present status of the theater John to that of Lady Constance, a clear brought home to me very forcibly, for dramatic perversion and one which Mr. Berger had just returned from New In a little chat last Wednesday evenrestroyed the dramatic balance of the York, where he had been to see what might be procured in the way of amusements for the Columbia this she appeared here the week before last, is in New York arranging for further bookings for "The Passion Play of Washington Square." When this is ac-complished Miss Jewel will resume her work as the star of the rapid-fire little production.

THE CURRENT WEEK.

Belasco-Robert B. Mantell. Robert B. Mantell will open his engagemer many of the scenic difficulties past and designed the present tion so that it might be present to before appeared in Washington. Shakes-peare's historical tragedy. "King John."

The drama deals with the days when England, France and Austria were merging from obscure provinces into world powers, and is filled with clashing of arms and pageantry of war, making it particularly timely in this day of struggling Europe.

"King John" will be the opening bill and will be repeated Friday night. The other plays in Mr. Mantell's Washington repertoire are "Hamlet," Tuesday night; "Romeo and Juliet," Wednesday afterhoon; "Louis XI," Wednesday night; "King Lear," Thursday night; "The

BABE LA.TOUR DAYETY.

LILLIAN KEMBLE POLIS

"Louis XI." which is the work of the French dramatist, Casimer Delavigne. Genevieve Hamper will be seen as Prince Arthur in "King John," and Florence Auer as Lady Constance. Both of these young women are playing leads with Mr. Mantell this season. Miss Hamper, who played Cordella in "Kins Lear," and Marie in "Louis XI." the last time Mr. Mantell was here at the Belastime Mr. Mantell was here as the co. still has these roles, and in addition as Ophelia in "Hamlet, will be seen as Ophella in "Hamlet," Portia in "The Merchant of Venice," and Juliet in "Romeo and Juliet." Juliet is a recent addition to her repertoire. Miss Auer plays, in addition to Lady Constance, the tragic Lady Macbeth.

Fritz Lelber is still Mr. Mantell's leading man and is said to find in Faulconbridge in "King John": a worthy successor to his Antony in "Julius Caesar," and his Iago in 'Othello.' Ethel Mantell, the eighteen-year-old daughter of the tragedian, will be seen for the first time in Washington as Lady Blanche in "Kins John." Miss Genevieve Reyfiolds and Guy Lindsley are still members of the enormous tank will cover practically the entire stage, and it will be flooded with three feet of water. On this water will float a ship which will be a reproduction of the old English frigate. On the water will also float a dozen row hoats manned by sailormen and carrying the characters from the shore to the ship.

A company of nearly 200 singers will people the scene. The details of the production have been personally supervised by a third Youville, the sponger of the in grand opera in Italy, will be the alternate. The Hebe will be Natalie Ewald. so jealous by reviving a flirtation of her so with the last act the audience is beginning to tremble for the Bertram Peacock, last season one of the principal barytones with the Century opera Company, of New York; the boatstaw will be E. Percy Parsons, long a member of the Savage forces; the Ralph Rackstraw will be Vernon Dalbart, last Beason, with the Century Opera Company, with the Century Opera Combined the first property of the Savage forces; the Ralph Rackstraw will be Vernon Dalbart, last be should enhance the highly favorable Rackstraw will be Vernon Dalhart, last season with the Century Opera Company; the Sir Joseph Porter will be Her bert Sallnger, and the Dick Deadeye will be Albert Hart, well known for his assumption of the Hopper roles in "Wang" thoroughly congental part as the husand "El Capitan."

Poll's-"A Woman's Way."

"A Woman's Way," the Thompson

National—"Pinafore."

National—"Pinafore."

The New York Hippodrome production, and he it was who decled that when it went on tour it should go on as an exact duplicate of the original from the New York Hippodrome production and pullet." Wednesday afterhoon: "Louis XI." Wednesday night: "The New York Hippodrome production and he it was who decled that when it went on tour it should go on as an exact duplicate of the original or not at all.

The New York Hippodrome production, and he it was who decled that when it went on tour it should go on as an exact duplicate of the original or not at all.

The principal roles are to be sung by a cast possessing a grand opera training. Merchant of Venice." Saturday afternoon and "Macbeth" Saturday night. All are shown in the curtain rises on Monday and "Macbeth" Saturday night. All are Shairespearean with the exception of see a "real ship in real water." An pany, and Elize Marysetle, who has sung little wife handles every situation with the customary special offerings.

Today the concerts will offer as attractions with any other woman. If Walter to a strength of the origin dron is worth flaghing to company, countries and showing pictures of the origin and company. Today the concerts will offer as attractions with any other woman. If Walter to a strength of the origin and company and company and company and company and company. Parillo and Frabito, Angel with any other woman. If Walter to a strength of the origin and company, Parillo and Frabito, Angel was the concerts will offer as attractions with any other woman. If Walter to a strength of the origin and company and company. Parillo and Frabito, Angel was the fine that the concerts will offer as attractions with any other woman. If Walter to a strength of the origin and company and comp band.

ETHEL MANTELL

Keith's-Vaudeville.

Houdini, "The man who has baffled the Buchanan coincidy in which Grace George world," in his sensational escapes from achieved success, will be the offering of the Poll*Players this week. This play written with sparkling episrammatic dialogue, relates the domestic romance of feat, "The Chinese Water Torture Cell." Mr. and Mrs. Alan Waldron, Waldron and other self-liberation feats. He will has been having a quiet firtation with change his bill daily. Houdin has aban-

Gayety-"The Golden Crooks." The Golden Crooks extravaganza com-

BELASCO

OF PINAFORE

NATIONAL

pany is bilied at the Gazriy as this week's attraction. Billy Arlington the hobo comedian fresh from his tour of the English music halls, will be featured in the principal role. Assisting him in the cast are Frank Dobson, Carl I. Tay-lor, Ed F. Hennessey, Walter F. LaPoye, Jack Daly, and Berlin Ellitt. The principal femining members of the coupany are Babe LaTour, Margurett Daly, and Eleanor Cockran. A chorus of thirty show girls render sixteen musical numbers. In the first act Walter LaPoye will give a singing specialty. Frank Dobson, assisted by Sadle Richards, wil offer the latest dances, and Rube LaTout and Billy Arlington will present their specialties. In the second act two features to be introduced are the Ballet de Laxe, intro-ducing the Dancing Dailys in their "Transformation," "Spring Song" "Max-ixe," and other songs, and the Beau Brummel Trio, Messes, Taylor, LaFoye and Hennessey, presenting "We Sinz-That's All." The piece is a muscal conedy revue in two acts and four scenes The book is the work of Abe Lewit and the musical numbers and ensemble were, arranged by James C. Fulton. The usual country store will be given on Friday evening.

Cosmos-Vaudeville.

A travelogue, by the distinguished lecturer. F. Tennyson Necly, covering the enormous tank will cover practically the entire stage, and it will be flooded with three feet of water. On this, water will float a ship which will be a reproduction of the old English frigate. On the water will also float a dozen row boats manned by sailormen and carrying the characters from the shore to the ship.

HOUDINI. KEITH'S

A company of nearly 200 singers will people the scene. The details of the production have been personally supervised by Arthur Voegilin, the sponsor of the revival. He it was who designed the entire production, and he it was who decided that when it went on tour it should go on as an exact duplicate of the original or not at all.

The principal roles and to be supervised by the principal roles and to be supervised or as an exact duplicate of the original or not at all.

The principal roles and to be supervised by the principal roles are the formal roles and the supervised by the roles and the